

GENERAL RESERVE MATRIX
(SUBJECT TO CASE BY CASE DETERMINATION)

Reservist over 130 days (Voluntary)	Reservist serving involuntary or solely for training	Reservist serving over 270 days	Reservist (O-7 and above) serving over 60 days
Reserve Officer voluntarily serving over 130 days extended active duty (If serving EAD pursuant to 10 USC 12301(d), then voluntary):	Reserve Officer serving involuntarily or on active duty solely for training	Reserve Officers serving on active duty under a call to duty or order for a period in excess of 270 days:	Senior Reserve Officer (O-7 and above)—If serve 60 days or more (the days do not need to be consecutive) during last year prior to termination of active duty/separation/retirement:
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Subject to same rules as the active component for 203, 205-209, and 218 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Classified as an SGE then - • 209 does not apply • 207 and 208 apply • 203 & 205 apply but are less restrictive for SGEs ((1) only applies to particular matters involving specific parties that they participated on personally and substantially as an SGE; or (2) that were pending in the agency if he serves over 60 days during the immediately preceding 365 days) 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • May hold but not exercise by election or appointment, the functions of a civil office in a state, DC, or territory, possession or commonwealth of the US provided it is not prohibited by law or the Secretary concerned because it interferes with duties DoD Directive 1344.10, section 4.3.5.4.] • AD solely for training, are already covered in first two columns; otherwise subject to the same rules as active component for 203, 205, 209, and 218. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • 207(c)—one year cooling off—(Note, if serve less than 60 days in last year, does not apply)

Please note that a reserve member with three periods of orders in a year, each lasting 90 days, would exceed 130 days, but would still be considered an SGE because the determination of whether someone is an SGE or not is made prospectively.